“I was the Range Lieutenant for the California Department of Corrections at the Richard A. McGee Base Correctional Officer Academy from July 1996 through July 2002. My responsibilities included supervising the firearms, chemical agents, and less lethal training for all correctional officer cadets entering the Department of Corrections. As part of my duties were to stay current of all relevant programs throughout the State of California, I attended many firearms and chemical agents training programs which were directed toward law enforcement. I also served on the POST panel that rewrote the firearms and chemical agents training for all POST approved training academies.

In addition to the above, I have worked for San Joaquin Delta College Public Safety Center since 1998 as their Chief Rangemaster. As such, I wrote and implemented the firearms and chemical agent training program for the academy using POST guidelines.

“On Saturday, September 23, 2006, I assisted in hosting a Firearms seminar so that Goshen Enterprises could introduce the HexSite® to qualified police Rangemasters in the Stockton area. The introduction of the HexSite® by Tim Sheehan was very dynamic and informative. It was obvious that Tim knew what he was talking about and was able to present the information in a way that made sense to all those present

“I am currently looking at the HexSite® for use on all my firearms as I feel that it has many advantages over the traditional ‘bladed’ sight in a combat or reactive situation, which is what I am most concerned with

“On the security side of this, I can assure you that ITG will continue to support showing the HexSite® to other students in addition. Delta College is proposing to establish training with the HexSite® in its next academy and has already converted several handguns to the HexSite®

“I do know that the East coast has embraced Col. Applegate’s method of shooting as presented by Mike Conti at the seminar more than the West coast (with the exception of the CHP). It would seem to me that if you could demonstrate to the CHP the potential value of using the HexSite®, you would stand more of a chance in presenting the HexSite® to other agencies.”
